GIORGIO MULE'
NEW EDITOR OF VIDEONEWS

Giorgio Mulè is taking over the role of editor of Videonews, the journalistic title that cuts across all three of Mediaset's channels of which he was previously deputy editor.

The Videonews stable, which is specialised in the production of background news programmes, includes Verissimo, L'Antipatico, Secondo Voi, L'Incudine, Liberitutti, Super Partes and the very recent Kosmos.

Born in Caltanissetta, Mulè, 38, began his career as a journalist as a reporter in the 80s at Il Giornale di Sicilia.

From 1992 to 1998 he was at Il Giornale where he was one of the leading columnists.

In 1998 he moved to Panorama as a special correspondent. He was managing editor of the newsmagazine until December 2000 when he became deputy editor before being appointed executive deputy editor in January 2003.

Since December 2004 Mulè has been the editor of Economy.

Mulè succeeds Mauro Crippa, Mediaset's director of News and Current Affairs.
